Little Emily was complaining to her mother that her stomach hurt. Her mother replied, "That's because it's empty. Maybe you should try putting something in it." The next day, the pastor was over at Emily's family's house for lunch. He mentioned his head hurt, to which Emily immediately replied, "That's because it's empty. Maybe you should try putting something in it."

Last Papers Riddle

I soar without wings, I see without eyes. I've traveled the universe to and fro. I've conquered the world, yet I've never been anywhere but home. Who am I?

The ANSWER: I'm your imagination.

A little girl was eating a doughnut on her way to church. Since she could not eat inside, she left it outside and she prayed, "God, will you please watch my doughnut and not go anywhere else? Thank you!" Then she went inside. When the priest said, "God is here, God is there, and God is everywhere!" The little girl said, "You are wrong! God is outside watching my doughnut!"

"Darling," said the swooning man to his new bride. "Now that we are married, do you think you will be able to live on my small income?" "Of course, dearest, no trouble," she replied. "But what will you live on?"

"Mom," said the little boy, from playing. "I think the people who live next door are really, really poor?" "Why do you say that, my little one?" "Because you should have seen the fuss they made when their baby swallowed a dime!"

A minister told his congregation, "Next week, I plan to preach about the sin of lying. To help you understand my sermon, I want you all to read Mark 17."

The following Sunday, as he prepared to deliver his sermon, the minister asked for a show of hands. He wanted to know how many had read Mark 17. Every hand went up. The minister smiled and said, "Mark has only 16 chapters. I will now proceed with my sermon on the sin of lying."

Mother and father rabbit were talking about the children after they had been put to bed. "Why was Junior so happy this evening?" asked father rabbit. "Well", explained mother rabbit, "he had a marvelous time at school. He learned to multiply"

A Sunday school teacher was discussing with her class how Noah might have spent his time on the ark.

A little girl volunteered, "Maybe he went fishing." A boy countered, "With only two worms?"

"The Taste Will Move You"

A dinner speaker was in such a hurry to get to his engagement that when he arrived and sat down at the head table, he suddenly realized that he had forgotten his false teeth.

Turning to the man next to him, he said, "I forgot my teeth."
The man said, "No problem."
With that, he reached into his pocket and pulled out a pair of false teeth. "Try these," he said.
The speaker tried them. "Too loose," he said.

The man then said, "I have another pair... try these."

The speaker tried them and responded, "Too tight."

The man was not taken back at all. He then said, "I have one more pair of false teeth... try them."

The speaker said, "They fit perfectly."

With that he ate his meal and gave his address. After the dinner meeting was over, the speaker went over to thank the man who had helped him.

"I want to thank you for coming to my aid. Where is your office? I've been looking for a good dentist."

The man replied, "I'm not a dentist. I'm the local undertaker."

One day in class, the teacher told everyone to turn to a blank sheet of paper in their notebooks. She noticed that Evan was having trouble with her directions.

"Have you found a blank piece yet, Evan?" said the teacher.

"Nope. I haven't," said Evan.

"Somebody went through my paper and drew lines across all of the pages."

The census taker knocked on the lady's door. She answered all his questions except one. She refused to tell him her age. "But everyone tells their age to the census taker," he said. "Did Miss Missy Hill and her twin sister Daisy Hill tell their ages?" she asked. "Certainly," he replied. "Well, I'm the same age as they are," she snapped. The census taker simply wrote on the form, "As old as the Hills."
